Model Ts in Historic Depot District

National Model T Museum

Celebrating the car that put the world on wheels!

The Model T had a profound impact on the world. Between 1908 and 1927 fifteen million were produced and a love for travel was born. Richmond is the home of the Model T Ford Club of America and in 2008 hosted a Centennial birthday party to honor the T. Since then the city has become a hub for all things Model T, earning it the nickname of T-Town USA.

Stellar Model T Collection

The museum's amazing collection of vehicles and T-related memorabilia fills two buildings and is ever growing and changing. Among the stars are a 1909 Touring (the 394th of 15 million Ts made); a Model T fire truck, snowmobile, ambulance, and depot hack; plus a Pietenpol airplane with a Model T engine. Educational opportunities include a library/research center with many one-of-a-kind volumes; a cutaway chassis; a Vintage Garage exhibit that transports you to the Model T era; plus a variety of manuals, publications, CDs and DVDs available for purchase.

Historic Location

The museum is nestled in the heart of Richmond's Historic Depot District. Once "the" transportation mecca of the 19th century, it is now a "must-see" destination filled with notable architecture, unique shops and antique stores, stunning murals, fun and fabulous restaurants, a microbrewery and so much more.
